INCIDENTS THAT HAVE LATELY OCCURRED.

An Interesting Summary of the flore Important Doings of Our Neighbors—Weddings and Deaths—Crimos. Casualties, and General News Notes.

Ar Kalamazoo Mrs. James Barth was fatally scalded at the State Asylum by the carelessness of two attendants who were glying her a bath. She came from Spring Lake, where she had become insane at a revival. She required frequent baths, and being a woman weigh ing over 200 pounds it required three attendants to bathe her, two holding her in the tub while one performed the service. Rosa Smith, a graduate of the State Normal School, and Minnie Irwin and Anna Van Vleet went to give Mrs. Barth a bath, and the wheel attached to the bathers for the west sendented by Barth a bath, and the wheel attached to the hot-water pipe was accidentally turned, the scalding, steaming water rushing into the tub. The shricks of the maintac, mingled, with the screams of the attendants, were heard all eyer the institution. The attendants were unable to lift. Mrs. Barth from the tub, and she was powerless to assist herself, for the flesh was cooking on her body.

AN UNSATISFACTORY LEGIS-LATIVE WEEK.

Bills Introduced That Are Calculated to Give the Railroads a Shaking-Up-A. Measure for the Support at the Soldiers' Rome for the Wives and Widows

LANSING, Feb.

Last week was a very unsatisfactory one in legislative circles. When the Legislature convened at 9,15 on Wodnosday evening after the long adjournment, the Sonate was destitute of a quorum, only ten members answering to roll call. The number was increased to fourteen on Thursday, but still three less them a corum and not until to fourteen on Thursday, but still three less than a quorum, and not until Friday afternoon did it succeed in having a sufficient number to proceed with the regular business. The House had a bare quorum on Wadnesday evening, and continued through the week without a sufficient number to give any measure immediate effect. The proceedings were enlivened on Wednesday by the introduction of on Wednesday by the introduction of some very startling, railroad legislation by Representative Jackson, of Wayne, who presented bills repealing the charters of the old Grand River, Valley Road, operated by the Michigan Contral, and the Eric and Kalamazoo Railroad, operated by the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, and followed this up by a joint resolution to submit to a vote of the people next spring a proposed amendment to the Constitution which will enable the State to, buy railroads outright under certain conditions.

All this was followed by a bill announcing that under provisions of act 42, session laws of 1846, the State elects to purchase from the Michigan Central purchase from the Michtgan Centra Company its railroad, and all its proper-ty and effects. The bill makes the Gov-ernet the purchasing agent, and provides that in case the company and the State cannot agree upon the market value of the stocks of the company the Supreme-Court shall lix the valuation, and within two years thereafter the State Treasurer shall pay the company the amount

The bill conflicts with the constitution as the latter stands at present, and therefore will not be pushed until the proposed amendment is voted upon in the spring. The real intent of the bill is to force the Michigan Central people to give up the special privileges and immunities they enjoy under their charter, and if this can, be accomplished as and if this can be accomplished no serious effort will be made to force the State into the railroad buying business.

This was followed by the introduction of a bill by Richardson, of Ottawa, to amend the charter of the Michigan Cenon a mond the charter of the Michigan Central Railroad Company. It amends section 33, which provides the rate of taxation to be paid by said company, by bringing the company under the general railroad tax law. A section of the charter provides that, by a two-thirds vote of each branch of the Legislature, the charter may be amended, altered or repealed, and that the State shall compensate the company for any damage that it may sustain by reason of such change. The Senate took advantage of its quorum on Friday to adjourn until Monday at 9:15 p.m. The House was not able to do this, but upon assembling Saturday morning found itself without a quorum, and after a fruitless search for absences under a call of the House or absentees under a call of the House, adjourned until Monday. THE forthcoming annual report of the New York Chamber of Com-merce will show that for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1890, the total of merchandise and com and bullion merchandise and coin and bullion brought into New York City was $913,-605,600. Of this $113,432,031 was brought in by American vessels, $793,-206,169 by foreign vessels, and $7,027,-400 by land vehicles. The total brought into all ports of the United States was $1,773,263,839; in American vessels, $222,023,679; in foreign vessels, $1,423,409,454; by land vehicles, $87,830,708.

leading Guilty for Foar of Mob Venge-ance, He Is Sent for Lite to the Jackson Penitondary—Speedy Justice for an In-human Wretch. Charlotte (Mich.) dispatch.

Rusself C. Canfield, the inhuman mur lerer of little Nellie Griffin, escaped the ynchers' rope by pleading guilty and receiving the sentence of life imprisonment. Less than twenty-four hours ago he was captured, and to night he is in Justice has been swift in his case, but in the opinion of the enraged people here she has been far too merciful. Horri fied and maddened by the fearful crime of the monster, the people demanded blood, and had Canfield been still in the jail here this night would have been his last. It yas his fear of mob vengeance that caused him to confess, and dread of that caused aim to contest, and aread of the vigilantes! rope drove, him to plead guilty and seek safety behind the solid walls of the State's prison. Sheriff Pollock saw the prisoner in his cell this morning and told him of the danger he was in from the entaged people. He seemed to feel this by intuition, and seemed to be willing to do anything to seemed to be willing to do anything to save his miserable neck. When the Sheriff asked him 11-he desired to plead guilty as he had confessed he replied, "Yes, I'll plead guilty to murdering the girl at any time." The prosecuting attorney was seen and Judgo Hooker notified. Early in the atternoon Canfield, the Sheriff and the prosecutor slipped quietly into the court-room by a side door, and the charge was read to Canfield. His dull, sleepy eyes looked uneasily at the windows as if fearling a bullet. He hardly understood the reading or the importance of the charge as it was read to him. When it was finished he was asked: "Do you plead guilty or not guilty?" "I am guilty," said the wrotch, and he shivered as if with an ague chill. Judge Hooker then sen-Sheriff asked him if he desired to plead wraten, and he survered as it with an ague chilf. Judge Hooker then sentenced him to imprisonment for life, and at once the Sheriff hustled him on a Michigan Central train, and he was taken to the State's prison to undergo his life-to the State's prison to undergo his life-long punishment.

The story as told by the murderer and taken down is substantially this; Canfield went from Dimondale to Jonesville on Tuesday morning, Jan. 27; by rail, from the latter place going to Coldwater. After spending some time in this town, he visited the State School and had a talk with Super-intendent Newkirk. He told the latter that he wanted to adopt a gift from the intencent Newgrit. He foul the latter that he wanted to adopt a giff from the institution, saying he would provide a good home for her and alleging, as was true, that he was possessed of a comfortable property. He gave his name to and finally made arrangements to take Nollic Criffin with him to his alleged Actine Grinn with him to his alteged home. In company with the girl he returned to Jonesville and thence to Dimondale. After getting off the train at the latter place Canfield, with his victim, took the road leading to Mr. struck off the traveled highway, going through several tracts of wood until he, with his charge, reached the place of timber by the river where the body was found. They talked for a few moments and Nellio manifested great distress of mind and wept bitterly; begging Canfield to take her back to the begging cannel to take her back to the institution at Coldwater. Turning a deaf ear to the girl's pleadings, Canfield struck her down and choked her to death. He then denuded her body of clothing, and, taking the corpse in his arms, three is heading into the river. The clothes he took to Harrison's farm and hid them under the floor of the cov stable. Cantield maintained stubbornly to the last that he had not abused his lession of his guitt he was at once locked up and a guard placed over him. Sheriff pean a guard placed over him. Sherin Pollock, after taking precautions to guard the fall in case of an attack, started for Harrison's farm, near Dimondale, to search for the girl's clothes. Under the floor of the cow stable—on Mr. Harrison's farm the words of loss. The companies have been laboring to convince the author that the actual cost for transmission, of ten-words messages is in excess of fitteen cents, and but without avail.

There are doubts in regard to the constitutionality of the measure, as it is asserted that the courts have held that the telegraph lines come under the regular tions of the interstate commerce law.

A suggestion has been made that oil might with advantage be used at the most exposed lighthouses to reduce the force of the waves. It is thought that this end might be attained by placing, say, a couple of small steel buoys in the most exposed direction at a distance from the lighthouse some 150 feet. There should be a pul-ley on the buoy and a slight rope, so that the bag or appliance for distributing the oil could be hauled in when required. The method is most simple, and can be tested without great expense.

He said that he was convinced that the leight-hour law of 1868 was wrong, and that it would inflict upon the class it was specially intended to benefit a grave and possibly an irreparable injury. The House passed the Senate bill amending the land forfeiture act of Sept. 29, 1890.

The Science of Smuggling.

With what skill adulterators some times utilize the resources of chemistry or physics in order to imitate natural substances or to sophisticate manufactured products is well known. The genius of snugglers knows no less limit. We have recently been apprised manufactured products is well known. The genius of sningglers know no less limit. We have recently been apprised of a fact which appears to us to cap the climax. We regret it for the sake of our neighbors across the Rhine but it is a question of a German fraud.

The Longwy custom house seized a German car that had started from the Luxemburg station, carrying so-called dressed stone. From one of the blocks there was cozing a liquid that was recognized by the inspector as 96 de-gree alcohol. The car was put on the wharf, and the stone was taken off and wharf, and the stone was taken of and broken, when it was observed that the interior, which was hollow, held a zino box of 1 m. by 0.7 m. by 0.4 m., containing 207 liters of alcohol. The other large conditions are considered to the containing the conditions of the blocks were found in the same condition. The screw cap was carefully concealed under a layer of cement uniformly marked with the letter D. The numbers succeeded each other, and upon each stone there was found another mark indicating the contents in liters. Scientific American.

Wholesome Food for Thought—Study-ing the Scriptural Lesson Intelligently and Profitably.

The lesson for Sunday, Feb. 15, may be tound in II. Kings 2: 1-11.

GOLDER, TEXT.—And Enoch walked with God; and he was not; for God took him.— 5an. 5:24.

INTRODUCTORY.

The Bible contains no, more thrilling passage than this. Dwight Tk Moody has made if the basis of one of his most effective narrative sermons. The conclusion, however, against to be omitted in the present arrangement of the lesson. One mays verse seems seems to be omitted in the present-arrange—ment of the lesson. One more verse seems needed to complete the wonderful account.

"If thou see me," said Elijah, "inken from thee it shall be so unto thee." Elisha bides his time. Suddenly there is a tumuit. Elijah is no longer with him! He looks around, behind, abovo. There he goes, caught up in the air. "My father, my father, the charlotof is nal and the horsemen thereof!"
He has seen it! . He has seen it! And there at his feet lies the mantle of Elijah.

what the Lesson trackes.
When the Lord would take up Elliah. He was always waiting for what the Lord would. It was ever the word of the Lord that dislodged him from any tarrying spot Glicad, Chereth, Zarephath, Carmel, Horeb, were all left at the direction of Jehevah. So here he set himself to leave this mundane sphere at God's command. The Lord and sphere at God's command. The Lord So here he set himself to leave this mundano sphere at God's command. The Lord whom he served had, he knew, a large world. In his Father's house were many, mansjons, and so we see him setting forth here as if going, in simple trust, across from one shore to another, night at hand. A good Christian, brother, near by as we write, was suddenly streken, down. His last words to his pastor regarding and expected removal from one part of the city whore he resided to another were, "I am going across the river." And he was—into the Better Land. Elijah does not seen anxious or troubled. He is simply going over Jordan. The same Jehovah whom he has served on this side is thore, also. And

The bord hath sent the It was a good last word; nuch like the man. Obedience was his marked characteristic. Elijah was always the prophet who stood before God awaiting, like a royal messenger of the great King, lis erand from the throne. "The Lord hath sent me"—set that word down for Elijah. Elilott on his death-bed said: "You see a strange sight, sir, an old man, unwilling to die," On the other hand, hear Trotter: "I am in perfect peace, resting alone in the blood of Christ." Mirabeau cried: "Give ine more laudanum that, I may mot think of, eternity." And Voltaire ilkewise: "I am abandoned by God and man. I shall go to hell." And Paine: "Stay with me, for God's sake; I cannot hear to be alone. It is hell to be alone. How much better the closing words of Wesley; "I the chief of sinners am, but Josus died for me;" or those of Cookman: "I am sweeping through the gates, washed in the blood of the Lamb."

Tarry here, I pray thee. He was kind to Tarry here, I pray thee. He was kind to those he left behind. His farewell visit to Bethel and Jericho give hint of this fact. And here he does not wish to carry his youngthe great to the hour of dissolution. The dying Washington raised jinself up and said to his attendants: "I feel myself going! I hank you to also no more trouble about me. bet me go-off-quietly! L.cannol. last, long. Fillah's had been a busy, trying career. His work done, he would cainly, and with the least jar to those he left behind, return to the God who raade him. May our last ond be like his in this regard at least.

Let a double portion of thy Spirit be upon me. He was asking in nothing of arrogance. What he wanted, as rightly interpreted, was the same spirit possessed by his father in faith. What more indeed can we ask than the fullness of God's imparted grace? And what less ought we to crave? When we look back upon the fathers and behold their lives of simple trust, their heroic faith and strenuous endeavor in the days wherein God placed them, we can but pray that the same enduement which was days wherein God placed them, we can but pray that the same enducement which was theirs be ours also, for the demands which press upon us. Each generation must have its special baptism and inflow of the Spirit, and each new prophet must have his "double portions," his birthright part in the great succession. Are we really asking for so much to-day?

great succession. Are we really asking for so much to-day?

Behold there appeared a charlot of fire. And he sawit. The blessing was his. Many a man has gone a long distance for the vision which at last brings him to the full knowledge and possession of himself, as God's appointed servant. We have just been glancing over the life of Francis Wayland, as written by his sons. In his letter written to his mother while he was still a student in Union College he tells of his vain vighs in seeking after a reassuring sense of God's pardoning presence. He afterward tells how he had mapped out his own course of conversion, and it was for that he was waiting, always to be disappointed. At listing, always to be disappointed. At listing to the first time he realizes that the love of God is his, and then and there francis Wayland finds his vocation. Elish has at last received his mantle. Who holds it to-day?

The beginning of a new novel, in a new field, by Dr. Edward Eggleston. is an important feature of the February CENTURY. The scene of "The Faith Doctor" is laid in New York City, and the subject is not only Christian Science, Fuith Cure, ect. but the social struggle is in the City of New York.

Besides the "Faith Doctor," the fiction consists of the third and closing instalment of James Lane Allen' "Sister Dolorosa," an instalment of Hopkinson Smith's "Colonel Carter of Cartersville," a story by Miss Wilkins with a picture by Mrs, Mary Halock Foote.

A brief series is begun in this number by George R. Parkin on "The Anglo-Saxon in the Southern Hemisphere, this article referring to the "Working Man in Australia."

Thomas Bully Aldrich, Richard Henry Stoddard, Edgar Fawcett Walter Learned, James Whitcomb Riley, Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, and Jennie E. T. Dowe are among the poets of the number.

The Topics of the Time discuss One Means of Regulating the Lobby, 'The Salary Problem," "Early Edu cation in Literature," and "Women." The latter article is apropos of a re narkable series of Open Letters, "On the Opening of the Johns Hopkins Medical School to Women," by Cardi nal Gibbons.

THE ART AMATRUM for Feb., 1891, is an enlarged issue, with special articles levoted to the forthcoming sales of the important Brayton-Ives and Seney collections, which are copionsly illustrated. A talk with Mr. Shugio on Japanese Porcelains, and many notes on rare brie-a-brac of all classes, make this number appeal specially to collect ors. "OUR ART SCHOOLS" is devoted this month to the school of Design for Women at Philadelphia, with portrait and illustrations: A special double page of "Charcoal Studies after Modern Artists" would alone make the issue a notable one. WRIGHT & JACKSON, Grayling, - - Michigan

To the editor Rochester (N. Y.) Democrav:
Sin-On the first day of June, 1881. I lay at my residence in this city surrounded by my friends and waiting for death. Heaven only knows the agony I then endured, for words can never describe it. And yet, if a few years previous any one had told me that I was to be brought see low, and by so terrible a disease, I should have scoffed at the idea. I had always heer, uncommonly strong and healthy, and weighed over 200 pounds, and hardly know, m my own experience, what pain or sickweighed over 200 pounds, and hardly knew, in my own experience, what pain or sickness were. Very many people who will read this statement realize at times that they are unusually tired and cannot account for it. They feel dull pains in yarrious parts of the body and do not understand why. Or they are exceedingly hungry one day and entirely without appetite the next. This was just the way I felt when the relentless mainady which had fastened itself upon me first began. Still I thought nothing of it; that probably I had taken a cold which would soon pass away. Shortly after this I noticed a heavy, and at times neuralice, pain in one side of my head, but as it would come one day and be gone the mext, I paid-little attention to it. Then my stomach, would get out of order nead, but as it would come one any and be gone-the-next, I paid-little intention to it. Then my stomach would get out of order and my food often failed to digest, causing at times great inconvenience. Yet, even as a physician, I did not think that these things meant anything serious. I funcled I was suffering from mainth and dectored myself accordingly. But I got no better. I next noticed a peculiar color and ador about the fluids I was passing—also that there were large quantities one day and very little the next, and that a persistent froth and soum appeared on the surface, and a sediment settled. And yet I did not realize my danger, for, indeed, seeing these symptoms continually, I finally became accustomed to—them, and my suspicion was customed to-think, and my susplictor was wholly disarmed by the fact that I had me pain in the affected organs or in their vicinity. Why I should have been so blind I cannot understand.

pain in the affected organs or in their vicinity. Why I should have been so blind I cannot understand.

I cannot understand.

I consulted the best medical skill in the land. I visited all the famed mineral springs in America, and traveled from Maine to California. Still I grow worse. No two physicians agreed as to my maindy. One said I was troubled-with spinal irritation; another, dyspepsia; another, heart disease; another, general debility; another, congestion of the base of the brain; and so, on through a long list of common disease, the symptoms of many of which I really had. In this way several years passed, during which time I was stoadily growing worse. My condition had really become pittable. The slight symptoms I had at first experienced were developed into terrible and constant disorders. My weight had been reduced from 207, to 130 pounds. My life was a burden to myself and friends. I could retain no food on my stomach, and lived wholly by injections. I was a living mass of pain. My pulse was uncontrollable. In my agony I frequently fell to the floor and clutched the carpet, and prayed for death. Morphine had little or no effect in deadening the pain. For six days and nights I had the death-premonitory hiccoughs constantly. My water was filled with tube-casts and albumen. I was strugging with Bright's Disease of the kidneys in the last stuges!

While suffering thus I received a call-from my pastor, the Rev. Dr. Foote, at that The new Norvegian Tuit steamship, Stillion Duniols, which left New York for Matanzas. Cuba lies in fitteen fathons of water off Absecom. N. J. She was commanded by Johan Rantz, and had a crow of sixteen men, all Norweglius, none of whom has been heard from. It was less than twelve hours after the Duniols went down that the Ambross Snow passed there, and it is reasonable to think that at would have been able to live half a day in the rigging. The Dumois had a general cargo, valued at about $20,000, including eight street cars and 118,191 pounds of lard. She was heavily laden and was worth about $50,000. A rund of $2,400,000 Promised to Relieve Indig-nt-Hobrew Inmigrants.

It was announced in Wall street that Baron Hissch had cabled to Jesse Selfgman, representing the trustees of the Hirsch fund for the benefit of Hebrew immigrants. francs, or about $2,400,000, for the prose-cution of the work. Mr. Seligman, said that the report was premature, but that there was overy assurance that with rube-ensts and albumen. I was struggling with Bright's Disease of the kidneys in the last stages!

While suffering thus I received a call trom my pastor, the Rev. Dr. Foote, at that time rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, of this city. I foit that it was our last-interview, but in the course of conversation Dr. Foote detailed to me the many remarkable cures of cases-like-my own which had come under his observation. As a practicing physician and a graduate of the schools: I derided the idea of any medicine outside the regular channels being in the least beneficial. So solicitous, however, was Dr. Foote, that I finally promised I would waive my prejudice. I began its use on the first day of June, 1881, and took it according to directions. At first it sickened me; but this I thought was a good sign for one in my debilitated condition. I continued to take it; the sickening sensation departed, and I was finally able to retain food upon my stomach. In a few days I noticed a decided change for the better, as also did my wife and friends. My hiccoughs ceased, and I experienced less pain than formerly. I was so rejoiced at this improved condition that upon what I had believed but a few days before was my dying bed. I vowed, in the presence of any family and friends, should I recover. I would both publicly and private-ly make known this remedy for the good-of humanity, wherever and whenever. I had an opportunity and this letter is in fulfillment, of that, vow. My improvement was constant from that time, and in less than three months I had gained 26 jounds in flesh, became entirely free from pain, and I believe I owe my life and present condition.

three months I had gained to pounds in flesh, became entirely free from pain, and I believe I owe my life and present condition wholly to Warner's Safe Cure, the remedy believe I owe my life and present condition; wholly to Warner's Safe Cure, the remedy which I used.

Since my recovery I have thoroughly reinvestigated the subject of kidney difficulties and Bright's discuse, and the truths developed are astaurding. I therefore state, deitberately, and as a physician, that I believe more than one-half the deaths which occur in America are caused by Bright's disease, of the kidnigs. This may sound like a rass statement, but I am prepared to fully verify it. Bright's disease, has no distinctive features of its own (indeed, it often develops without any pain whatever in the kidneys or their vicinity), but has the symptoms of nearly every other common complaint. Hundreds of people die daily, whose burlats are authorized by a physician's certificate as occurring from "Heart Disease," "A poplexy," "Paralysis," "Spinal Complaint," "Kheumattsmi," "Pneumonia," and other common complaints, when in reality it is Bright's disease of the kidneys. Few physicians, and fewer people, realize the extent of this disease or its dangerous and insidious nature. It steals inter the rew physicians, and fewer people, realize the extent of this disease or its dangerous and insidious nature. It steals into the system like a thief, manifests its jetsement of the state of the unitarity as common and fastens lesself in the constitution before the victim is aware of it. It is nearly as hereditary as consumption, quite as common and fully as fatal. Entire families, inheriting it from their ancestors, have died, and yet mone of the number knew or realized the mysterious power which was removing them. Instead of common symptoms it often shows none whatever, but brings death suddenly, from convulsions, apoplesy or leart disease. As one who has suffered, and know by bitter experience what he says, I implore everyone who reads these words not to neglect the slightest symptoms of kidney difficulty. No one can afford to hazard such chances.

I make the foregoing statements based hazard such chances.

I make the foregoing statements based upon facts which I can substantiate to the letter. The welfare of those who may possibly be sufferers such as I was, Is an ample inducement for me to take the step I have, and if can successfully warn others from the dangerous path in which I once walked, Lam willing to endure all professional and personal consequences.

vanile Mine,

Near Wilkesbarre, Pa., another mine disaster occurred. The cause was similar to the horror, fr Janesville. In an abandoned part of the mine, which was closed, was a great body of water. In the adjoining cham per an unusally heavy charge was fired and so thinned the wall that the heavy volume of water broke through it and made a pas-sageway for its rush. A scene of constorna-tion ensued. Some of the miners were given warning and ran for their lives ahead of the rushing flood. Three men did not hear the warning in time and were closed in their chambers. Nothing has been seen of them since, and it is thought that the waters closed in on them and that they
